AN UNPRECEDENTED STANDING OVATION — a fitting tribute to Richard Heavenrich for his loyal and devoted service to a grateful student body. In his twenty-one years at Cranbrook, he has always been a man who all students could call upon as a friend. In times of trouble, his council has proven invaluable because of his superb insight and his ability to see events in true perspective. Anyone who has passed by room 118 has seen his concern for students expressed in action — in and out of class, weekdays, and evenings. Faculty have been fortunate to hear the outspoken expressions of his concern in meetings, comments that came from the heart, expressing his desire to see the school grow and fulfill its potential. An inspiration to all, he demands excellence, and he receives it. He will be missed.

You've Changed,

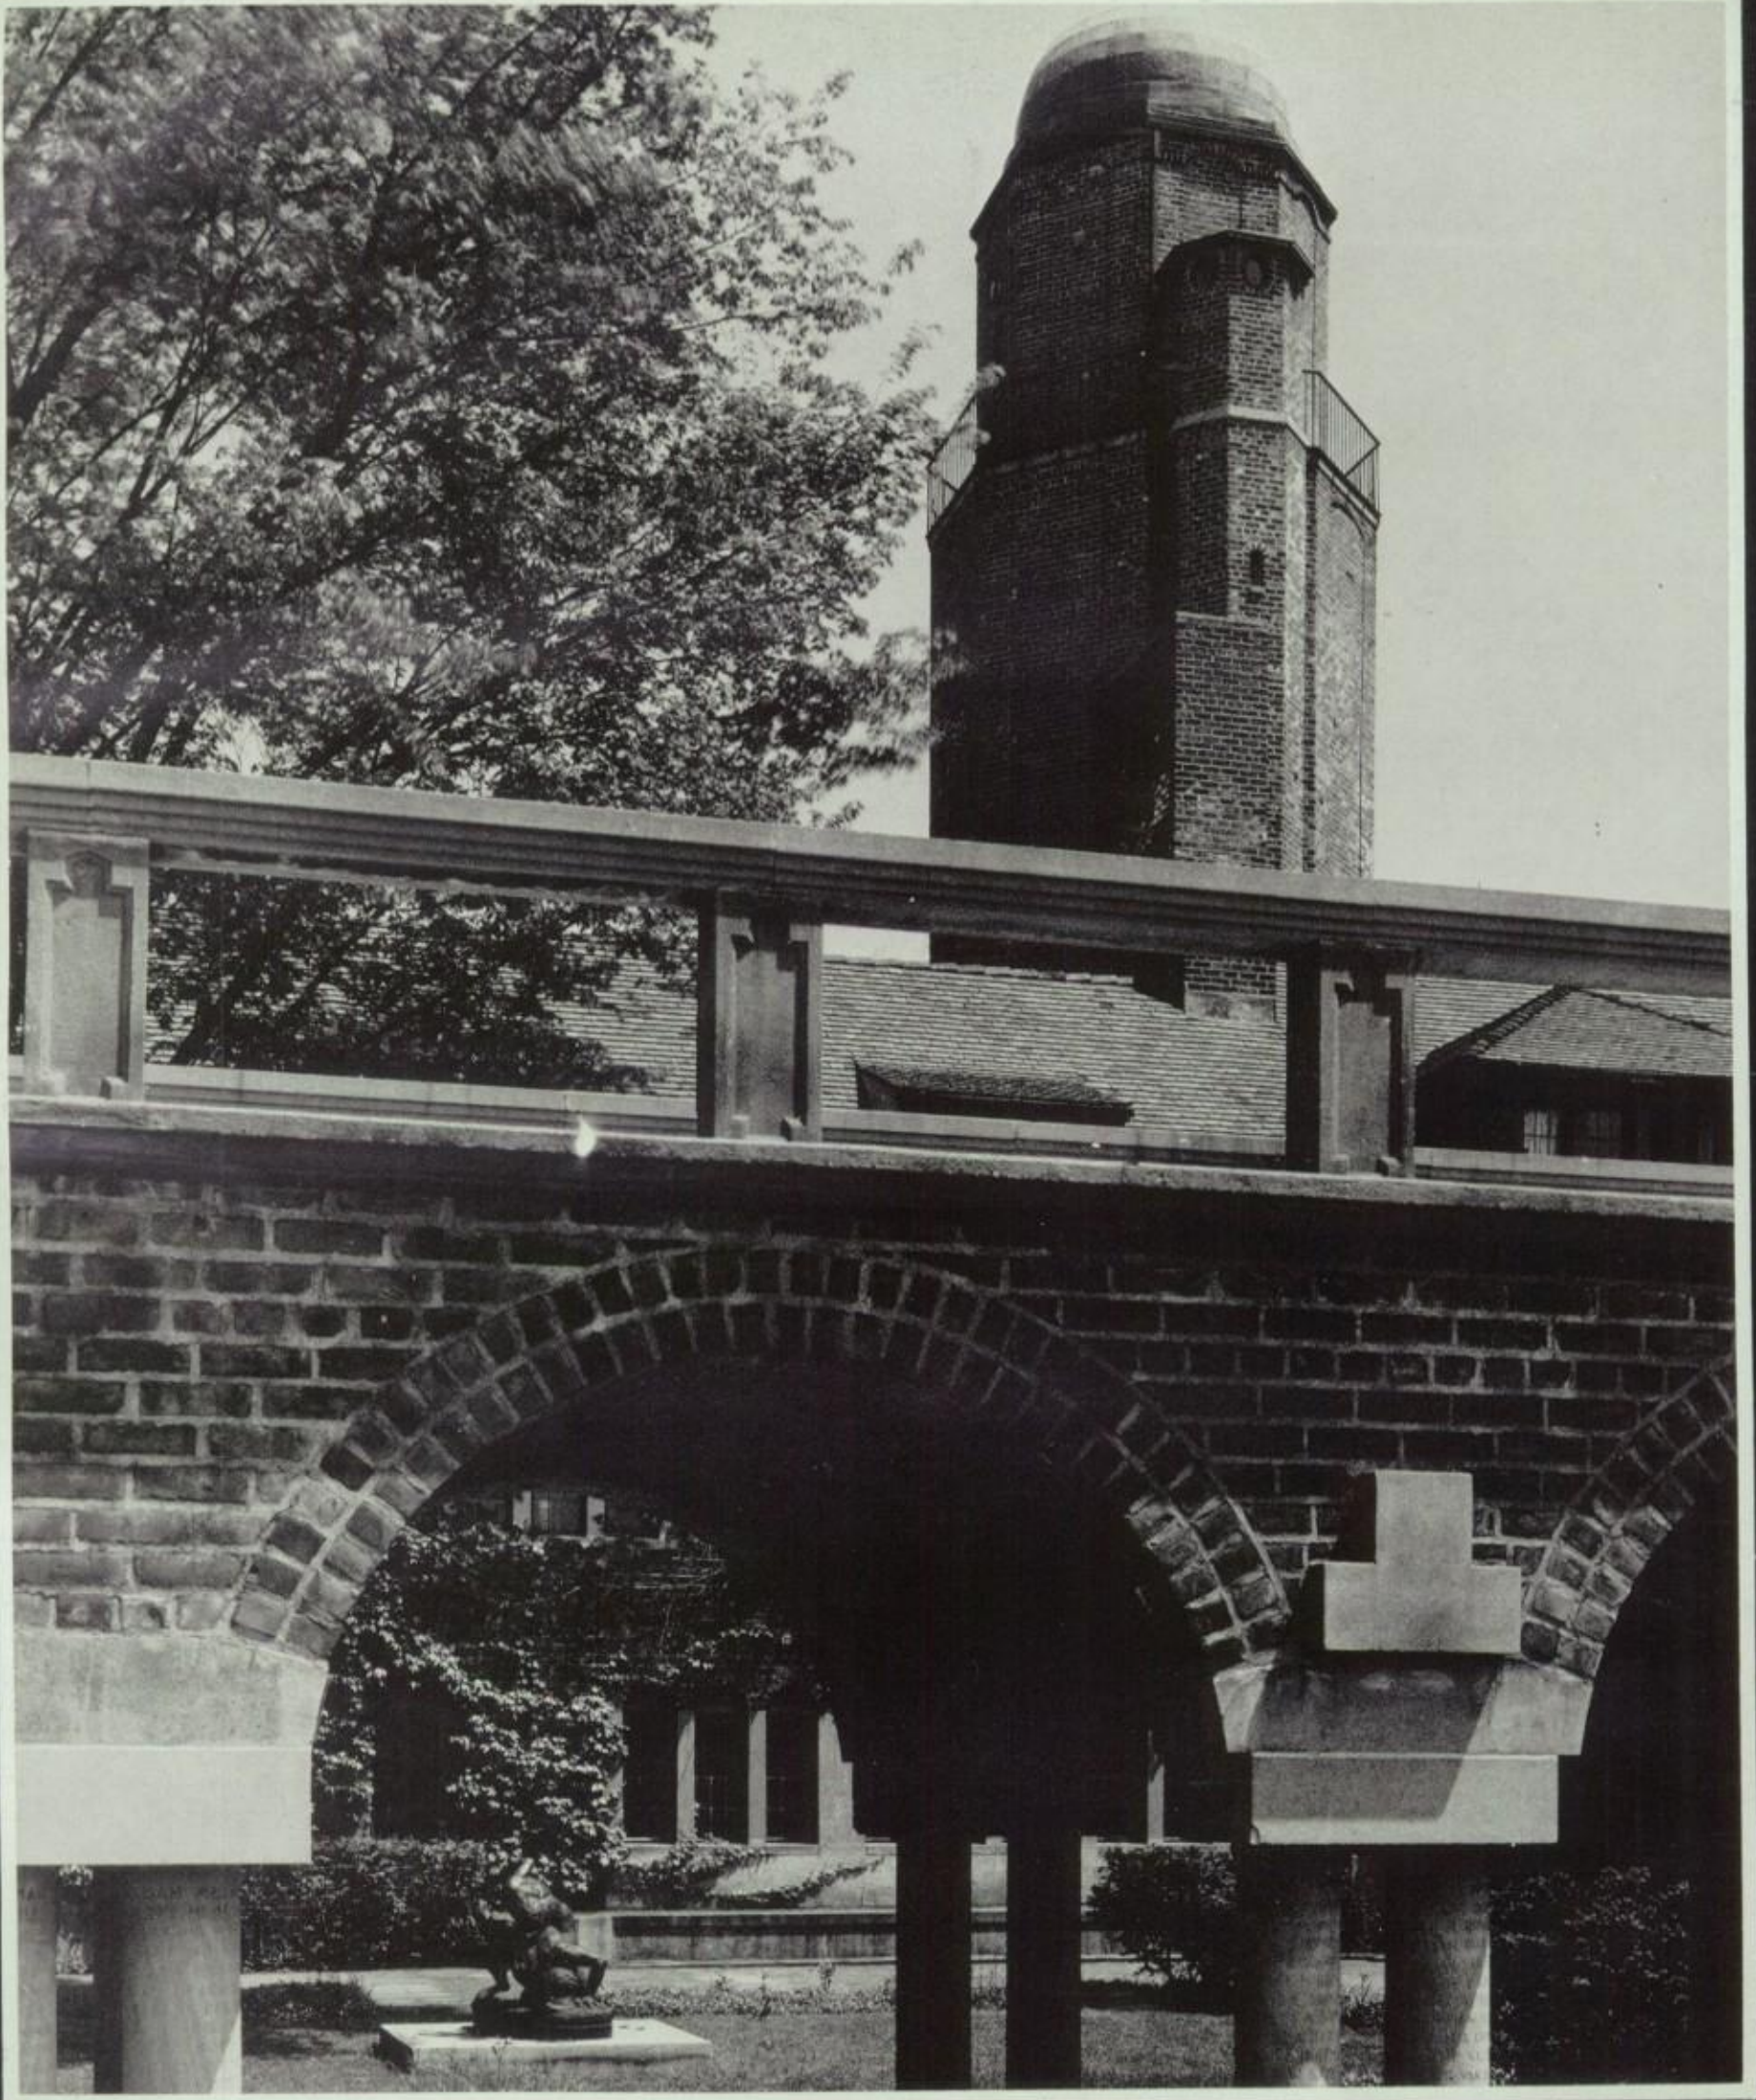

We've Changed

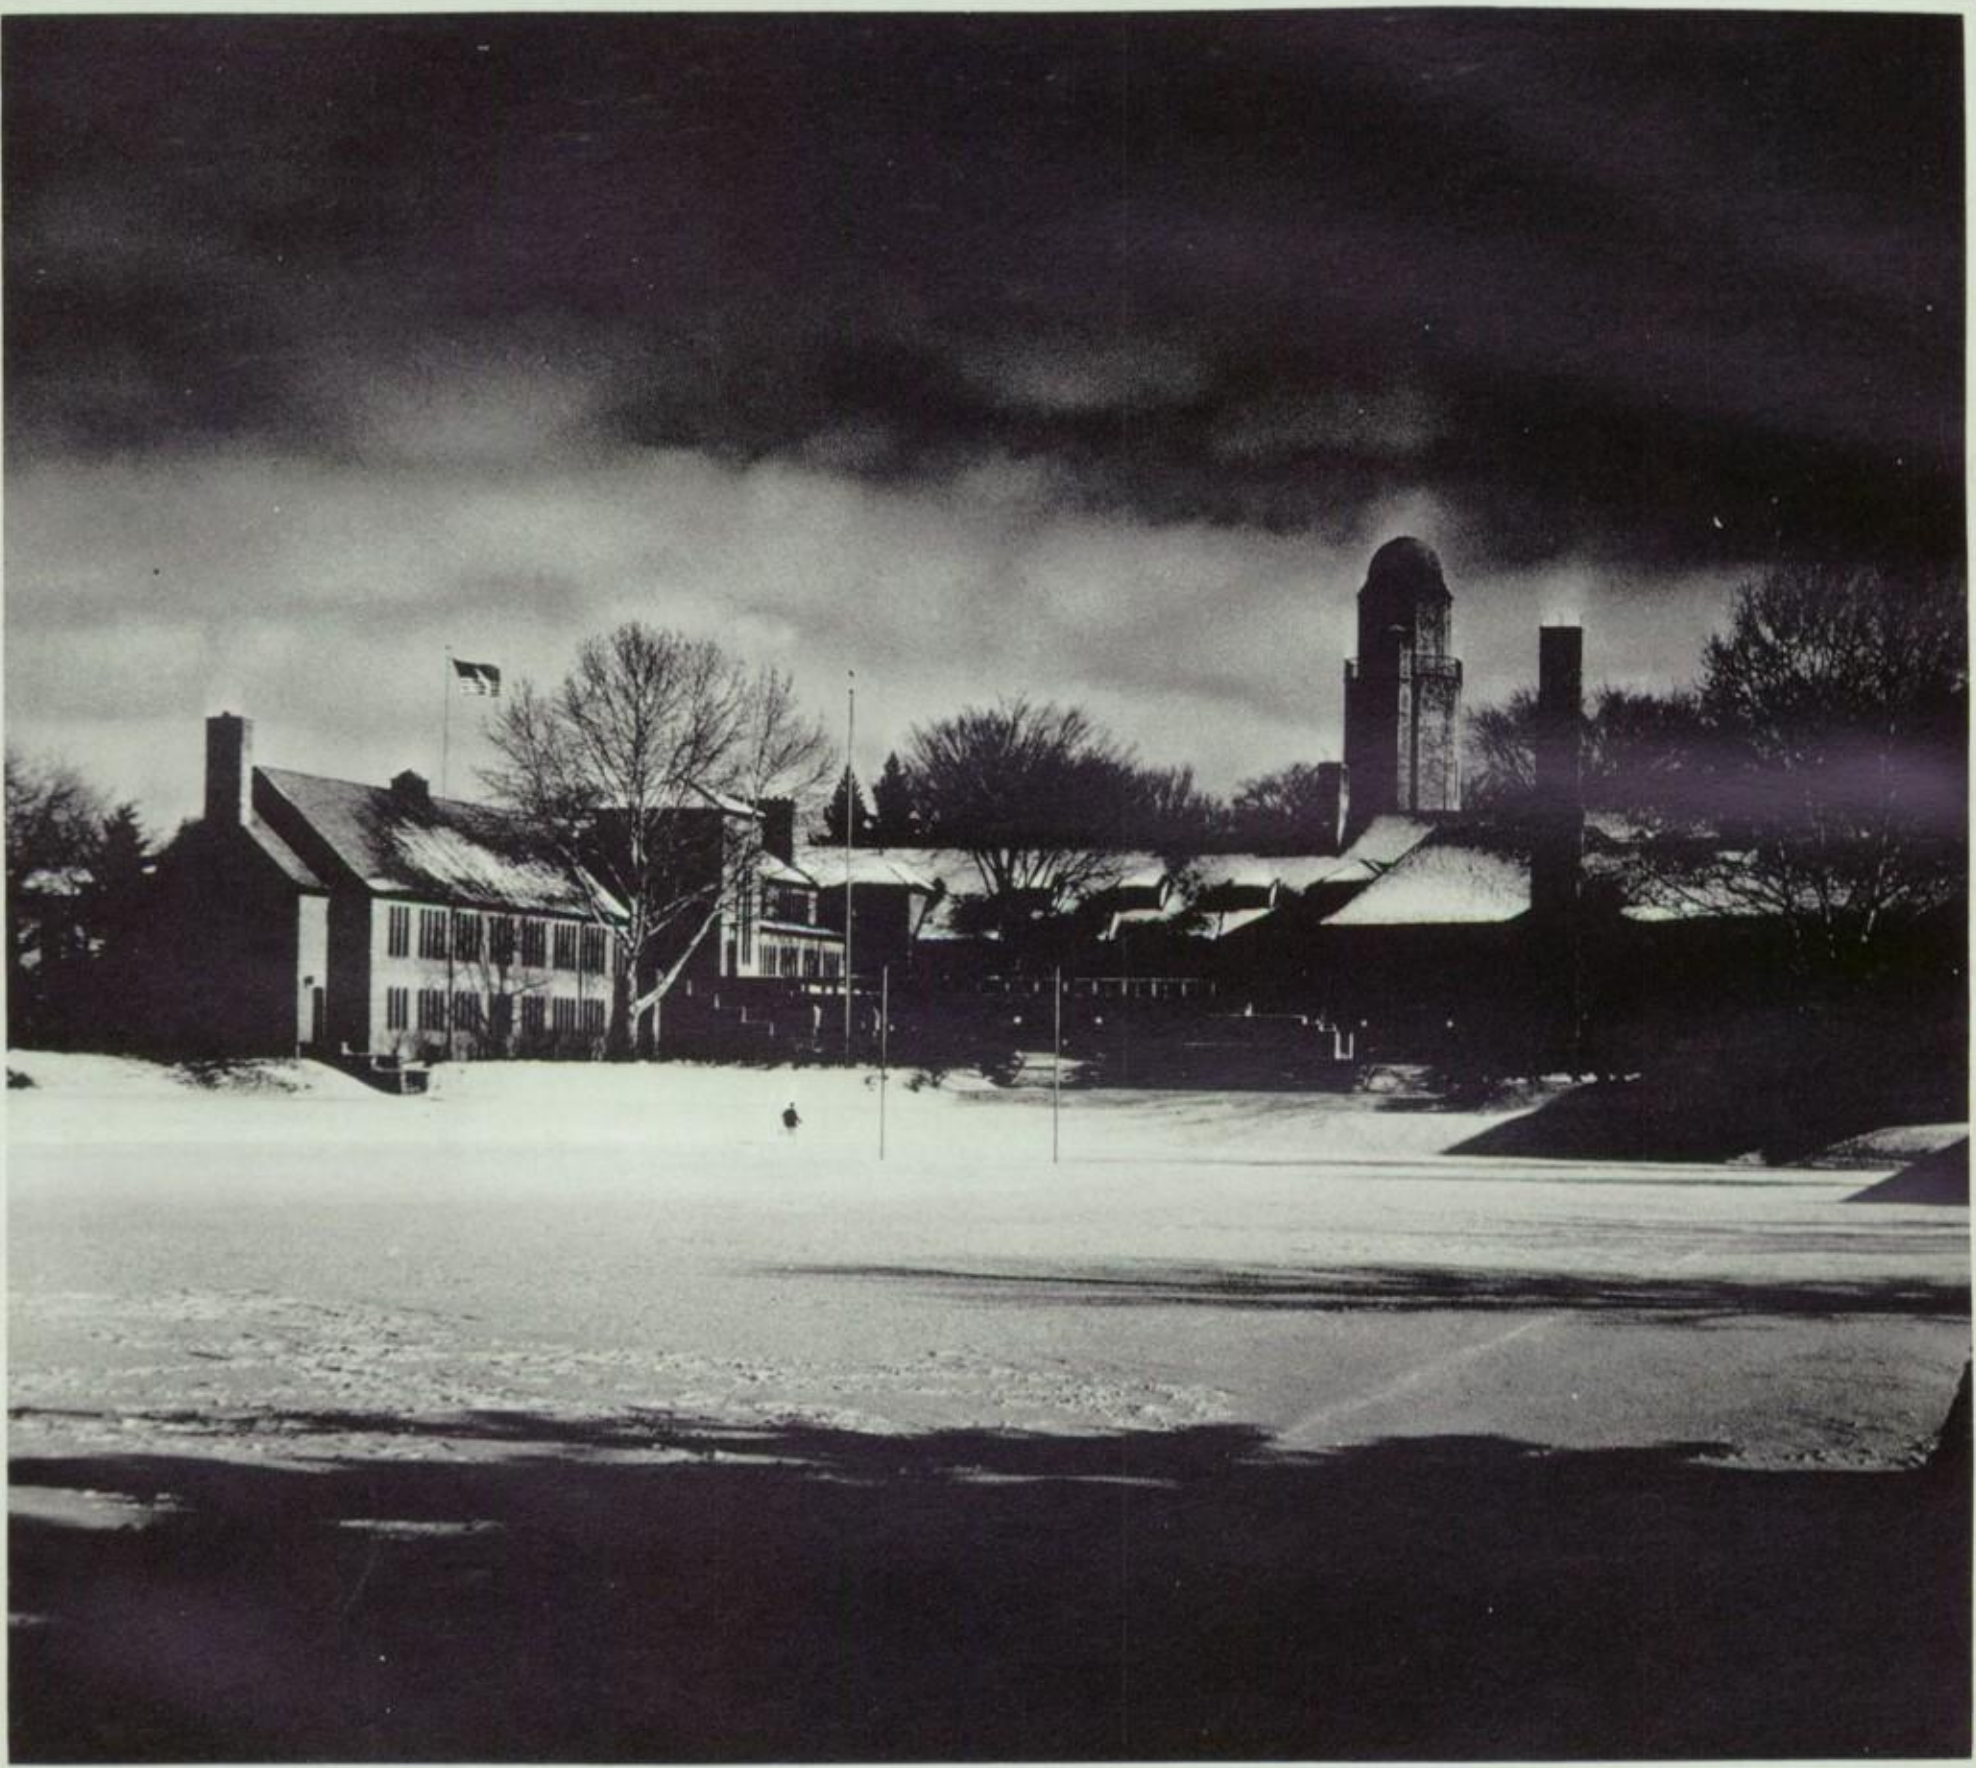

Remember — Cranbrook looked cold and austere when you walked across the Quad that first day. And it took a long time to move to the front row in the Assembly Hall.

But when you look back upon the years, the bull sessions, the exams, the friendships, the parties, the games won and lost — you realize that the school slowly became more friendly, day by day, month by month.

Then one day the fact dawned that you really liked the place, but less noticeably Cranbrook had become a part of you.

For some it was too late, but for all there are precious memories to share and remember. Hopefully, THE 1976 BROOK will help stir some of those memories.

FALL

If all the year were playing holidays
To sport would be as tedious as to work
— William Shakespeare

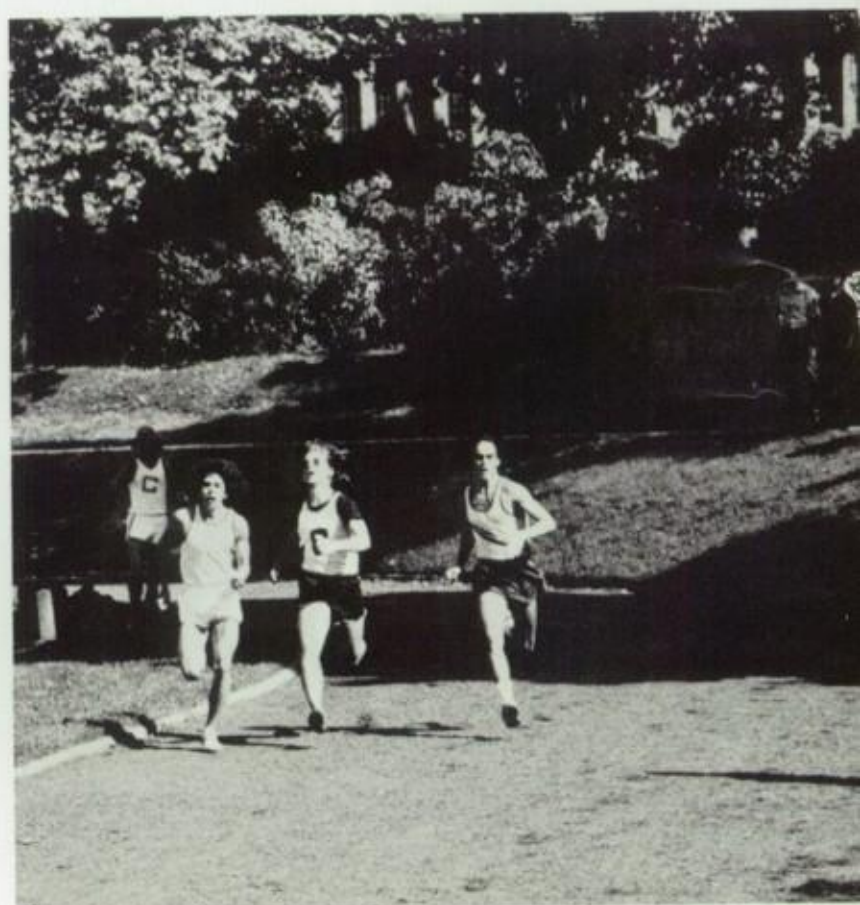

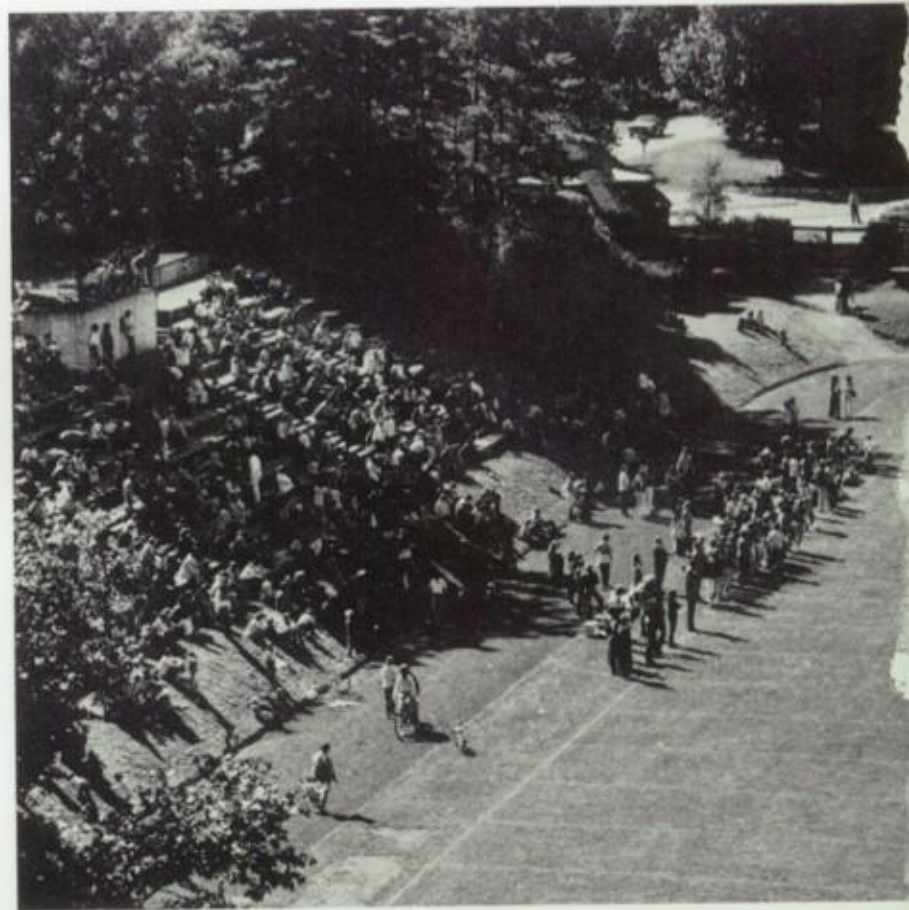

In America, it is sport that is the opiate of the masses.
— Russel Baker

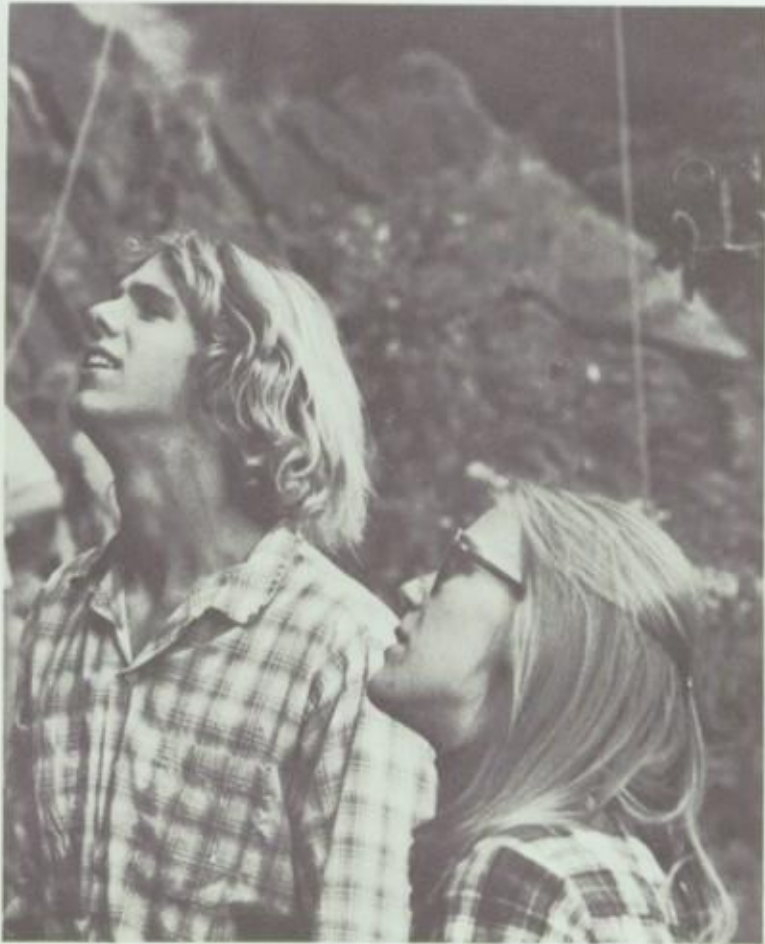

We are under exercised as a nation. We look instead of play.
We ride instead of walk. Our existence deprives us of the minimum of physical activity essential for healthy living.

A day for toil, an hour for sport,
But for a friend is life too short?
— Ralph Waldo Emerson

There is nothing, I think, more unfortunate than to have soft, chubby, fat-looking children who go to watch their school play basketball every Saturday and regard that as their week's exercise.

We are inclined to think that if we watch a football game, we have taken part in it.

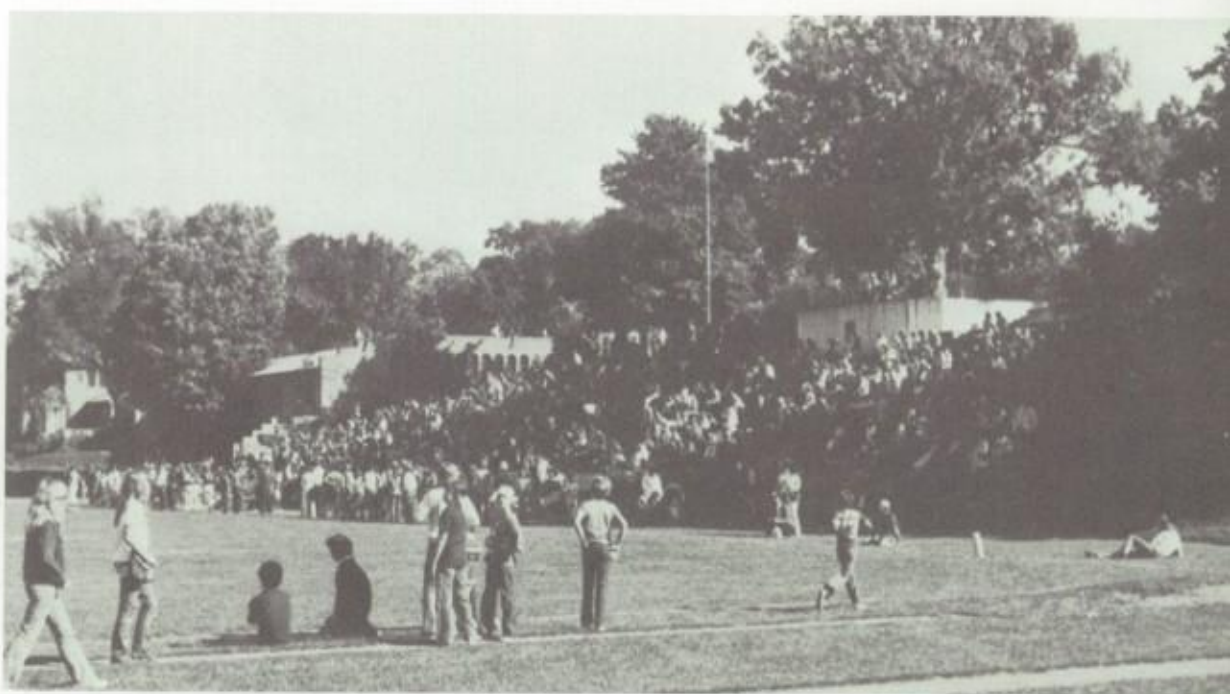

The means prepare the end, and the end is what the means have made it.

— John Morley

A thousand things advance; nine hundred and ninety-nine retreat: that is progress.

— Henri Amiel

Please allow me to introduce myself, I'm a man of wealth and taste. I've been around for long, long years — Stolen many a man's soul and faith. So if you meet me, have some courtesy — Have some sympathy and some taste.

Use all your well learned politesse, or I'll lay your soul to waste! — Jagger/Richard Sympathy for the Devil

We are not born perfect: every day we develop in our personality and in our calling until we reach the highest point of our completed being, to the full round of our accomplishments, of our excellences. This is known by the purity of our taste, the clearness of our thought, the maturity of our judgement, and the firmness of our will. — Gracian

Honorable dealing is at an end: trusts are denied: few keep their word: the greater the service, the poorer the reward: that is the way with all the world nowadays. There are whole nations, in fact, inclined to false dealing: with some, treachery has always been feared, with others, breach of promise and mostly deceit. Yet, this bad behavior of others should be a warning to us rather than an example. The fear is that the sight of such unworthy behavior may override our integrity. But, a man of honor should never forget what he is because he sees what others are.

Someday we may both realize how fortunate we are; don't let our dream escape us — Colorado here we come!

At that subtle moment when man glances back over his life, Sisyphus returning to his rock, in that slight pivoting he contemplates that series of unrelated actions which becomes his fate, created by him, combined under his memory's eye and soon sealed by his death. If sack and sugar be a fault, then God help the wicked! If to be old merry be a sin, then many an old host I know is damned; If to be fat be to be hated then Pharoah's lean kine are to be loved. No my good lord; banish Rock and Timmy, banish Danny and Stevie, banish Get and Pink, banish Smitty and Hugh; but for sweet Clark Shuler, kind Clark Shuler, true Clark Shuler, valiant Clark Shuler and therefore more valiant being as he is, old Clark Shuler, banish not him thy Harry's company; banish plump Clark and banish all the world!

The first, and almost whole, task of a school is to stimulate curiosity; if it cannot do this, it cannot truly educate, it can only train, for an educated person remains curious his life long, while a merely trained one only performs rituals. I do fear, although, that the sum total of all ecclesiastical emenities are bound to thwart the dilemna of extirpatism.

And furthermore, the perfidious subterfuge penuriously vitiating the unctuousness of adducity will profligate in the near future. Not only will our resilient cupidity end proclivity forever, but also alleviate our amass of diabolic sinicism. . . . — Fabrizio Folkman

Some thoughts on the last three years:

Cranbrook is not just a school, it truly is a way of life. Coming from a public school I found this hard to accept, because I had only known teachers who wanted to see how much you could memorize. Here I have found that teachers are interested in what students have to say.

At the local high schools with 700 kids in each class, where half the class has never heard of the other half, there just isn't the sense of unity like at Cranbrook. Here everybody knows everybody and the result is a pretty tight close-knit school.

There are many things about Cranbrook that I disagree with, but the pro's are much greater than the con's. I enjoyed it here, I've met a lot of good kids, but I don't mind leaving, it's time for college. Thanks Rock and Get.

They call it "the best years of your life". and it is, or, has been for me. Sure, there were times that were difficult, but, that's life! I will never forget Cranbrook, and the warm, happy, feeling I get inside, when I think of all the happy times.

My heartfelt thanks to you mom, I will never be able to express in words how much this experience has meant to me. My thanks also to those people who have helped me through my years here, my instructors, more than teachers, more than friends. Faculty I have known, and admired, and the countless people who I knew only in passing, and yet, who brightened my day so much.

To all my treasured friends, my gratitude, and my love, For without you, all this would not have been worthwhile. I wouldn't have made it without you, and I will hold dear the memories of the times we shared, and cherish the lives we lived. Good-bye Cranbrook, I'll be back someday. — William James Lee

The road goes ever on and on
Down from the door where it began,
Now far ahead the road has gone,
And I must follow, if I can,
Pursuing it with weary feet,
Until it joins some larger way,
Where many paths and errands meet.
And wither then? I cannot say.

"If I had the time to relive my life, I don't think I'd care to change a thing. As long as I find just a little piece of mind, I can dream and laugh and I can sing. I can have my fun with the silver stars. I can watch the sun fall in the sea. And if it rains, I will smile just the same, for the rain will make the flowers sing. In summing up my three years at Cranbrook, I'd have to say that they were the most important years of my life, so far. During my time here I've had good times and bad times and I've also gotten to know a lot of different kind of people and get a greater perspective on life. Ever since I transferred from Brother Rice in my sophomore year I have progressed a great deal as a person. In the beginning I began changing slowly, adjusting to the different styles at Cranbrook and learning with each new situation that I had to deal with in this community. Through much of it the going was rough, but in the end after all the trials and tribulations, and good times and bad times, Cranbrook was the best place for me to be for the past three years. Peace — as when long bitterness has been dissolved by tears: the ground bare. Glitter of wide waters in the soft light —

Around me the soft walls of the thaw haze. The Cloud ceiling is low, an orange shimmer in the setting winter sun.

In the mirror — world of the water, pale olive against pewter, the bare branches of an alder tree flap slowly, as in a gentle breeze, to the imperceptible movement of the waves.

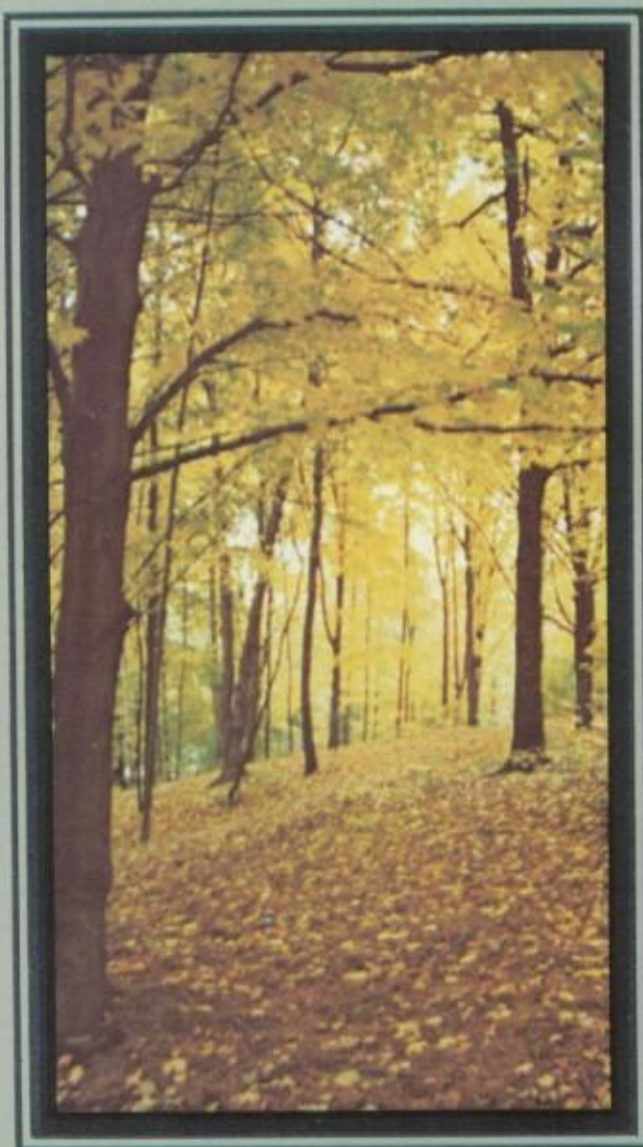

In the soft darkness the lonely flame surrounded by a womb of warm light. The hyacinth, a white cloud above the deep well of gloom in the mirror, barely glimpsed, glittering through the whispering forest of books.

Beneath the hush a whisper from long ago, peace of mind a burden shared.

No peace which is not peace for all, no rest until all has been fulfilled. — Dag Hammarskjöld

If there is an element of greatness in the Cranbrook faculty, then certainly it must relate to the very characteristic of the Cranbrook experience — the omnipresent opportunity to have one's character broadened, deepened or altered in some meaningful way.

CARRY ON

With this BROOK, the Class of 1976 bids farewell to Cranbrook. We have enjoyed the time spent here, whether six years or only one, but Time brings an end to all things. Now we go to begin a new life in college, or elsewhere.

We, as members of the present graduating class, have endeavored to enrich Cranbrook and leave it things worthy of consideration — new ideals and standards for future years.

But along with our successes and accomplishments, we have had our failures and unfulfilled dreams. The latter are our challenge to coming generations of Cranbrookians, a challenge to make good where we failed, as well as to improve where we succeeded.

And so, in your hands, the Class of 1976 leaves the future of Cranbrook, with its fine ideals and high standards, with the hope you will continue where we left off. Carry On!

The present is burthened too much with the past. We have not time, in our earthly existence, to appreciate what is warm with life and, immediately around us. — Nathaniel Hawthorne.

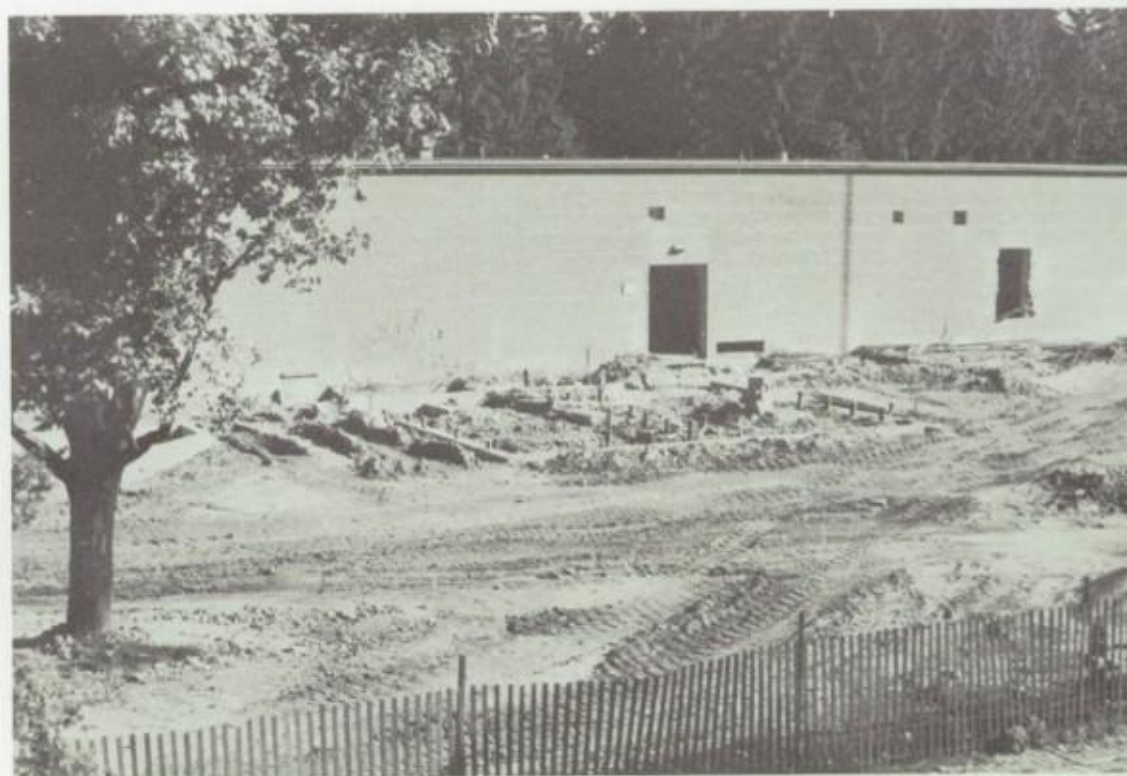

Every deed and every relationship is surrounded by an atmosphere of silence. Friendship needs no words — it is solitude delivered from the anguish of loneliness.

Children have to be educated, but they also have to be left to educate themselves.

— Ernest Dimnet

The pace of events is moving so fast that unless we can find some way to keep our sights on tomorrow, we cannot expect to be in touch with today.

THE PROVIDERS . . .

Founded in 1971, the Cranbrook Dad's Club has played a significant role in the growth of our school.

Over the past four years, through an increase in their membership, the Dad's Club has been able to allocate over twenty thousand dollars to various Cranbrook departments and organizations.

Recently, major contributions to the departments of Art, Language, Athletics, and Music have made it possible to obtain equipment that is beyond the restricted school budget.

Moreover, their generous donation to the only self-supporting Cranbrook publication, The Brook, has made it possible to maintain The Brook's standard of excellence.

Obviously, the Dad's Club has done more for Cranbrook both financially and co-operatively, through the Dad's Club brunch and the Father-Son dinner, than any other organization.

It is for these appreciated activities, therefore, that The Brook honors the Dad's Club by dedicating to them this years advertising section.

Small was never this wide.

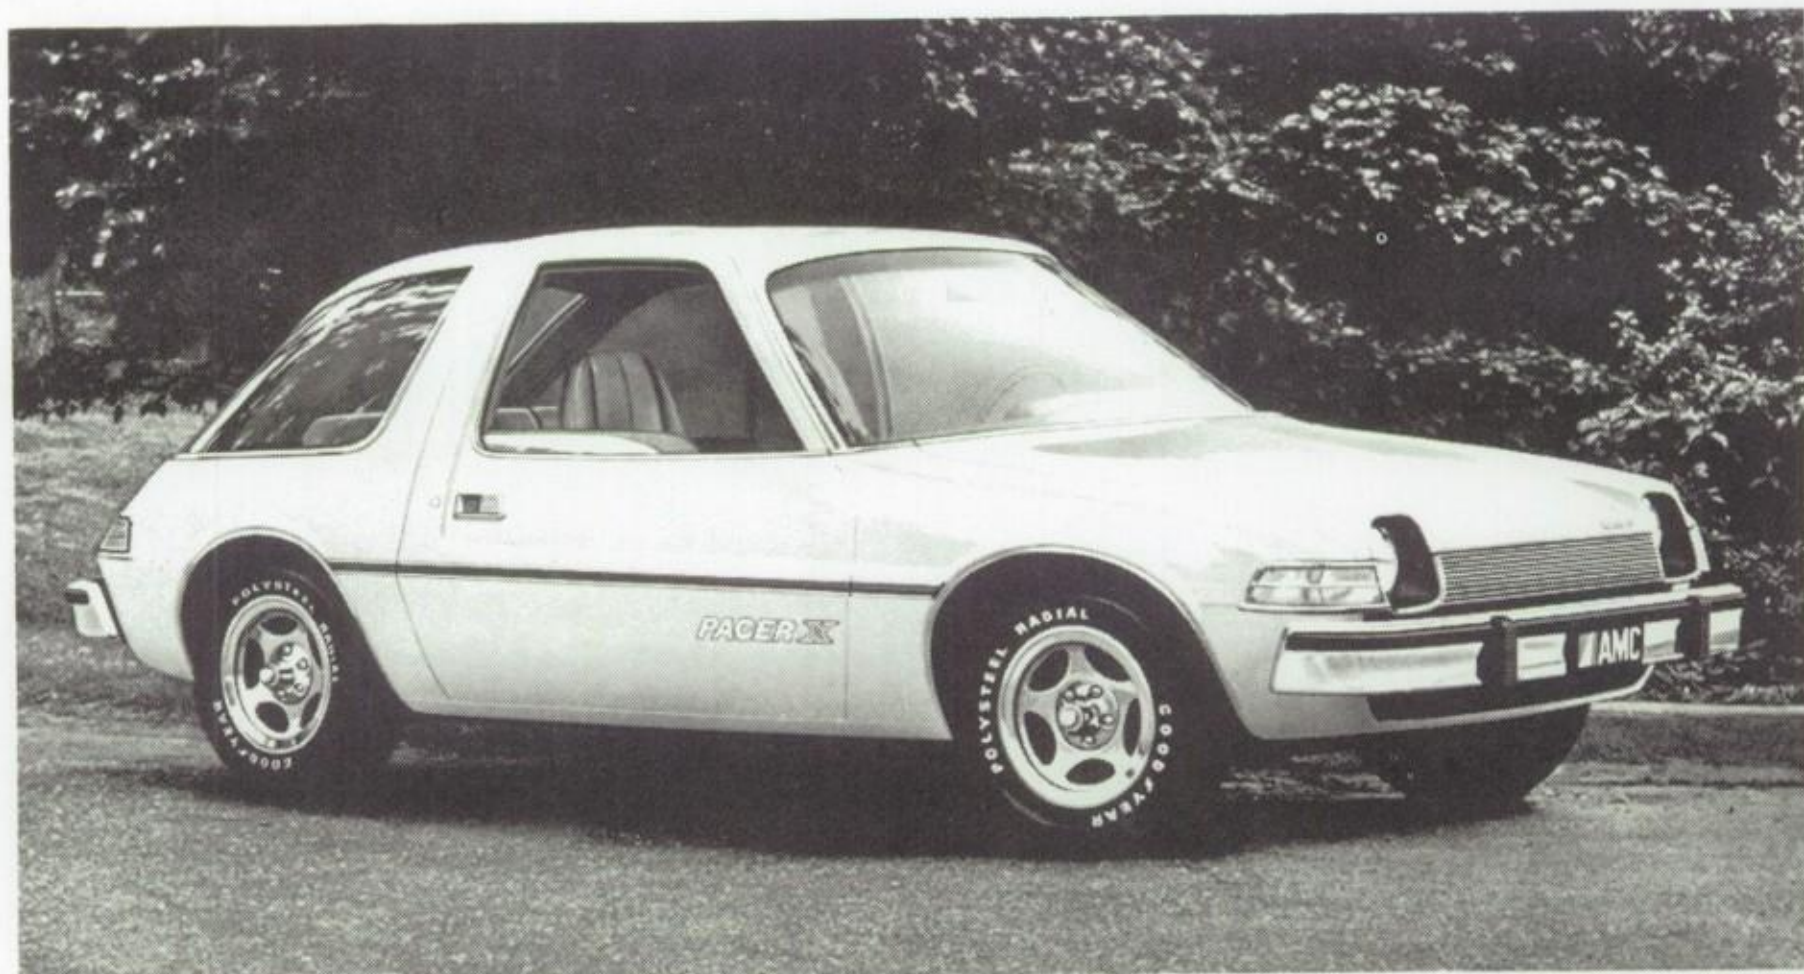

No other small car is as wide as our Pacer.
So naturally, you get an unusual amount of room.
And since it's wider — and has a unique isolated suspension system — the Pacer gives you an incredibly smooth and stable ride.

The Pacer has doors that are exceptionally wide.
With a passenger door that's even wider than the driver's.
So you can get in and out of the back that much easier.

(The Pacer also comes with AMC's proven 6-cylinder engine and a 22-gallon gas tank. Which means you get outstanding performance, excellent economy and long-distance driving range.)*

Last but by no means least, the AMC Pacer, the first wide small car, is covered by the wide coverage: AMC's exclusive BUYER PROTECTION PLAN.†

AMC Pacer The first wide small car.

*BUYER PROTECTION PLAN is reg. U.S. Pat. and Tm Off.
*EPA ESTIMATED MPG: 31 HIGHWAY, 20 CITY, FOR OPTIONAL 258 CID 6 AND OPTIONAL OVERDRIVE WITH MANUAL TRANS. CALIF. CARS EXCLUDED. YOUR RESULTS MAY VARY.

1976.

A new world of cars awaits you from General Motors.

If you haven't been in the new-car market for the past few years, get ready for some dramatically different automobiles from GM. You have an array of new smaller models to choose from, ranging from sub-compact models like Chevrolet's new Chevette to the new international-size Seville from Cadillac. In fact, since 1972—the year before the energy crisis hit—the number of smaller car offerings from GM has more than doubled.

What's more, GM has also been in the forefront by offering such things as the catalytic converter, smaller, more efficient engines and space-age electronics for ignitions, fuel injection and service diagnostics.

So do yourself a favor. If you've been out of the new-car market for several years, stop by your Chevrolet, Pontiac, Oldsmobile, Buick or Cadillac dealer's soon.

And get acquainted with a new world of cars from GM.

We want you to drive what you like
and like what you drive.

Congratulations to the graduating class of '76

We believe getting there should be as much fun as being there. But since everybody's got a different idea of what "getting there" should be like, Ford builds just about every different kind of vehicle under the sun...Pintos, Stallions, Mustangs, Cobras, Vans, Pickups, Broncos, off-road 4 x 4's...you name it.

And as you can see below, between Ford's options and your imagination, you can "arrive" just about any way you want.

GO PLACIDLY AMID THE NOISE & HASTE, & REMEMBER WHAT PEACE THERE MAY BE IN SILENCE. AS FAR AS POSSIBLE WITHOUT surrender be on good terms with all persons. Speak your truth quietly & clearly; and listen to others, even the dull & ignorant; they too have their story. ☛ Avoid loud & aggressive persons, they are vexations to the spirit. If you compare yourself with others, you may become vain & bitter; for always there will be greater & lesser persons than yourself. Enjoy your achievements as well as your plans. ☛ Keep interested in your own career, however humble; it is a real possession in the changing fortunes of time. Exercise caution in your business affairs; for the world is full of trickery. But let this not blind you to what virtue there is; many persons strive for high ideals; and everywhere life is full of heroism. ☛ Be yourself. Especially, do not feign affection. Neither be cynical about love; for in the face of all aridity & disenchantment it is perennial as the grass. ☛ Take kindly the counsel of the years, gracefully surrendering the things of youth. Nurture strength of spirit to shield you in sudden misfortune. But do not distress yourself with imaginings. Many fears are born of fatigue & loneliness. Beyond a wholesome discipline, be gentle with yourself. ☛ You are a child of the universe, no less than the trees & the stars; you have a right to be here. And whether or not it is clear to you, no doubt the universe is unfolding as it should. ☛ Therefore be at peace with God, whatever you conceive Him to be, and whatever your labors & aspirations, in the noisy confusion of life keep peace with your soul. ☛ With all its sham, drudgery & broken dreams, it is still a beautiful world. Be careful. Strive to be happy. ☛ ☛
